CRANE'S STORE CLOSED OUT AT AUCTION

Furniture and Stock Went at Unusually Low Prices

Following a sale which continued from early in the forenoon until late in the evening the Crane cigar store and pool room were finally closed late Monday evening. The fixtures were being removed, Tuesday, and at the same time carpenters started to work remodeling the room for the new J. C. Penney store.

The broken packages of tobacco and cigars were sold for whatever they would bring, and in most cases the prices were below cost. Six of the pool tables were bought by John Partlow, of Indianapolis, former resident of this city, the price being around $50 each. Two of the best tables brought $70 each. The two billiard tables were knocked down for $35 each and as a rule they sell for more than pool tables, it is said. The chandeliers were bought for $1.50 to $2.00 and $2.50 each. One of the show cases used for cigars brought $90 and the other around $115. One cash register sold for $10 and one for $111. The upright cases along the walls were bought by an Indianapolis firm for about one-third of their real value. One of these cases, about twenty feet in length, nine feet high and of beautiful quarter-sawn oak, which was located on the south side of the room, was knocked down for $100.
